AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

- To serve as a self-help, not-for-profit community organization dedicated to learning and fellowship, managed by elected committee members exclusively for the benefit of its members.
- To function as a modern community of scholars catering primarily for “Third Age” people, best described as being in active retirement – the Third Age of their lives.
- To provide both the stimulus and the satisfaction of active participation by enabling new interests to be taken up and old ones to be extended.
- To promote the joy of learning for learning’s sake, unrestricted by the requirements of vocation or the desire for qualifications, and to do so principally by drawing upon the experience, skills and energies of members.

PRIVACY POLICY

U3A Northern Rivers (Lismore) Inc. collects personal information from members to enable efficient delivery of its services to members.

The information collected is managed solely by U3A NR and will only be used for organizational, communication and emergency purposes.

Failure to provide full details may prevent U3A NR from full delivery of its services.

COMMUNICATION

U3ANR has established two means of communication with members, a Facebook page and an electronic notice board (e-Board).

e-Board is a two-way communication tool which enables the Committee and Course Leaders to provide members with information about activities and events, and for members to both ask for and provide U3A-relevant information.

New members who provide their email address will automatically become part of the e-Board network. Members can also unsubscribe at any time if they wish.

INSURANCE

U3A Northern Rivers (Lismore) Inc. currently has public liability cover. Your signature and Member No. on a U3A Class Roll or Attendance Book will help to establish your attendance at a U3A event should a public liability claim arise at a later date.

SAFETY AND WELL-BEING

U3A NR requires everyone participating in U3A NR organised or sponsored events and activities to:

- be responsible for their own safety and well-being and for the security of their personal effects
- participate within the limitations of their physical capabilities
- not endanger by their actions the safety and well-being of others present
- sign a Personal Responsibility Acknowledgement form before participating in courses involving outdoor or physical activity; the course leader will notify members when this is the case

U3A NR AND THE LISMORE WORKERS CLUB (LWC)

The LWC very generously supports U3A NR by providing numerous venues in which to present many of our classes and hold various events.

U3A NR strongly urges all members who attend its LWC based activities to become LWC members: fees are very affordable and easily recouped by the generous deals made available by the LWC. Note that without LWC membership U3A NR members attending LWC premises are legally required to sign in for every visit.
